Aid Without Borders

World Red Cross Day, observed each year on May 8, honors one of the world's largest and most enduring humanitarian networks—and the people who keep it running when it matters most. The date marks the birthday of Henry Dunant, founder of the International Committee of the Red Cross and the first recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize.

Today, the Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement operate in nearly every country, responding to crises that range from armed conflict and natural disasters to public health emergencies and everyday community needs. In a world shaped by climate extremes, migration, and ongoing conflict, the organization's role is more relevant than ever.

In recent years, Red Cross workers and volunteers have been on the front lines of wildfires, floods, earthquakes, and hurricanes, often arriving within hours to provide shelter, food, medical care, and family reunification services. Beyond disaster response, the Red Cross plays a critical role in blood donation services, emergency preparedness.

Holy Rollers

As the weather warms in May, cyclists of both the motor and pedal variety feel the call of the open road. As a response to this urge to cycle, many religious institutions hold a Blessing of the Bikes ceremony. In massive cathedrals like New York City's St. John the Divine, pews and aisles are packed with bikers and spandex-clad cyclists of all religious denominations while the local priest showers attendees with holy water and prayers for a safe and fun bicycling season. Since 1972, the Blessing of the Bikes has become a ritual each May in Baldwin, Michigan. Over 10,000 motorcyclists and bicyclists congregate at the Baldwin airport for a blessing ceremony. Some churches have added a new twist, inviting wheelchairs, strollers, and skateboards for a Blessing of the Wheels.
